The program theme is computer technology and software development. Software tools and web based central records have the potential for dramatic improvements in project management efficiency. The software development process itself relies on good project management practice.

The seminar emphasises the lessons on good management practice that are transferable among project technologies: whether they be IS, construction, new products, or business process change. Practitioners from all project disciplines praise the cross-functional learning at the seminars.

The program consists of a panel and individual presentations, each followed by a facilitated workshop discussion.

Confirmed presenters to date include:

Jim Brosseau, PMP, "The Return on Investment from Improved PM practices in Software Development"

Feri Demehri, PMP, " Survey of PM Scheduling Tools"
 P3 - P3E - MS Project 2000

Luba Ebert, PMP, "Contrasts in Project Management Between IS Development and Software Product Development"

A panel on "Real vs. Superficial Project Planning"
 Louise Novakowski, PMP
 Chris Quaife, PMP and More!

Additional panellists and workshop facilitators are being actively recruited.

 ABOUT THE SOCIETY *****

The Society of PM Professionals is a voluntary, democratic organization of PMP@s in the Greater Vancouver area, who are dedicated to the achievement of their common purposes in the profession through mutual support, co-operation, and collective effort.

The Society holds at least three Professional Development Seminars in Vancouver each year.

The Professional Development Seminars feature technical presentations and workshop facilitation by PMP@s for the purpose of continuing professional development. The seminar is intended for PMP@s. However, the Society welcomes guests who are committed to the advancement of the Profession. Practitioners who plan to become certified as PMP@s are welcome in particular.
